New Business:

Bill and Edith Holdorf are on their way to North Carolina, but asked Marie Wells to report on an item about the museum. Don Wesley is making every effort to get the legislature to present a bill in regards to the conditions at the museum, and get it passed. Each of us are urged to write to the representative in our district urging that the legislation be passed to provide either air conditioning or dehumidification for the museum, as many of the items are beginning to peel and fall apart. Check the Sunday paper for the representative in your district, and send the letter to the State House. The museum has the largest number of people going thru it, except for the Student Union and is the last building to be air conditioned.
